The Genuine Is Always Superior

OUR CLAIM as originators of the "Oak" stove is proved by The Encyclopedia Americana, edition of 1904, volume 15, under the heading of stoves, which says:

"... should be mentioned, as well as the 'Oak' stoves, with air-tight fitting, fluted fire pot (one-piece bottom), and a steel drum with large feed door, originally made by P. D. Beckwith."

Why is it Superior?

- BECAUSE It has seamless castings.
- BECAUSE It has absolutely tight joints.
- BECAUSE It assures fuel economy.
- BECAUSE The door frame is riveted on, not bolted.
- BECAUSE It will burn any kind of fuel.
- BECAUSE The cone center grate prevents formation of clinkers.
- BECAUSE The cold-rolled, refined boiler iron body radiates more heat than any other.
- BECAUSE Nothing is left undone to make it absolutely the best stove on the market.
